WORD OF THE LORD

Dr. Talmage on the Changes and Lessons of the Ages.

OLD AGE AND THEN WHAT?

Forming Bad Habito-The Age of Manly Toth-Middle Age.

PROGRAMS, March 5.—A most striking and characteristic sermon was preached by Rey. Br. Takenage to a great audience in the Takenage today, the subject assessment being "From Twenty to Seventy." The text essected was Paulm 20, 10, "The days of our years are three-

The essentiath milestone of life is here anted as at the end of the journey. A see go beyond it; multitudes never reach. The oldest person of modern times arred at 160 years. A Greek of the name of travaside lived to 160 years. An Enghansan of the name of Thomas Parr lived to years. Before the time of Mossespecpie and if you go far enough ed 160 years, and if you go far enough ask they lived 500 years. Well, that was accounty, because the story of the world must come down by tradition, and it needed long life analy to transmit the ews of the past. If the generations had en short lived, the story would so often have changed lips that it might have got

But after Moses began to write it flown and perchaent told it from century to century it was not necessary that people live so long in order to au-thenticate the events of the past. If in our time people lived only 25 years, that would not affect history, since it is put in print and is no longer dependent on tradition. Whatever your age, I will today directly address you, and I shall speak to those who are in the twentiss, the thirties, the formes, the fifties, the eixties, and to those who are in the sev-

YOUTH SHOULD BE AMBITIOUS. First, then, I accoust those of you who are in the twenties. You are full of expectation. You are ambitious—that is, if you amount to anything—for some kind of success, commercial or mechanical or professional or literary or age cultural or social or moral. If I find some one in the twenties without any sort of ambition, I feel like saying: "My friend, you have got on the wrong plan-et. This is not the world for you. You made your choice of poorhouses? You will never be able to pay for your cradie. Who is going to settle for your fact that you were born at all."

But supposing you have ambition, let me say to all the twenties: Expect everything through divine manipulation, and then you will get all you want or something better. Are you looking for trols the money markets, the harvests, the droughts, the caterpillars, the locusts, the sunshine, the storm, the land, the sea, and you will get wealth. Perhaps not that which is stored up in banks, in one deposits, in United States securi-ies, in houses and lands, but your cloth-ng and board and shelter, and that is about all you can appropriate anyhow. You can the Lord a great deal. To fred red clothe and shelter you for a lifetime requires a big sum of money, and if you get nothing more than the absolute nocasities you get an enormous amount of

Expect as touch as you will of any kind of encouse; if you expect it from the Lord, you are safe. Depend on any other re-source and you may be badly chearined, but depend on God and all will be well. It to a good thing in the crists of life to have a man of large means back you up. It is a great thing to have a moneyed in stitution stand behind you in your undertaking But it is a mightier thing to have the God of heaven and earth your condjuter and you may have him. I am so glad that I meet you while you are in the twenties. You are laying out your plane, and all your life in this world and the next for 500,000,000 years of your existence will be affected by those plans. It is about 8 o'clock in the morn-ing of your life, and you are just starting out. Which way are you going to staril

Ch, the twenties! Twenty" is a great word in the Bible. Joseph was sold for 20 pieces of siver. Successor judged lersel 90 years. Solomon gave libram 20 cities. The flying roll that Zochariah saw was 20 cubits. When the values of the sinp on which Paul satisfi sounded the Mediterraneon sea, it was 30 fathoms. What mighty things have been denoin the twentied Romains feurided Bones when he was 20. Kents finished life at 16. Lafayette was a world renowned softier at 28. Oberlin accomplished his cirief work by 17. Bonaparte was victor over Italy at 16. Pire was prime minister of England at 25. Calvin had completed his emmortal "In-strates" by the time in was 26. Grouns was afterney general at 94. Some of the mughtiest things for God and energity have been done in the twenties. As fone as you can put the fgure " before the other figure that heige describe your ago I have huch begon out you. Look out for that figure '? Watch its continuous with as much earmentness as you over watched anything that profitied your miration or threatened gon demotition. What a erithed figure, the twentier! While they continue you decide your occupation and the prescriptor by which you will be graded. You make your most abiding to You the your habits. Lord God Alicigity, for Jones Christ's cabe, baye mercy on all the men and women in the DESPASE FOR DESAPPOSETEENTS. Next I somet those in the thirties.

You are at an age when you find what a tough thing it is to get recognized and established in your accupation or pro-Tou are at an age when you find what a nough thing is in to get recognized and established in your accupation or profession. Ten yours ago you thought all that was ascensory for success was to put on your shutter the sign of physician or denties or atterney or broker or agent, and you would have plenty of business. How many hours you sake and waited for business and waited in twin three persons only know—field, your wife and yourself. In commercial life you have not had the premotion and the increase in salary you enterpated, or the place you aspected to occupy in the firm has not been vanished. The produce of the farm, with which you expected to support pensenif and those depending on you, and to pay the interest on the mortgage, has been far less than you anticipated, or the prices were down, or special expenses for nickness made drafts on your resources that you could not have expected.

In some respects the hardest decade of

could not have expected.

In some respects the hardest decade of life is the thirties, became the results are generally so far behind the anticipations. It is very rare indeed that a young man does as did the young man last Sunday night when he came to me and said, "I have been so marvaiously red since I came to this country that I feel, as a matter of gratitude, that I ought to dedicate myself to God."

Nine-tenths of the poetry of life has been knocked out of you since you came into the thirties. Men in the different professions and occupations saw that you were rising and they must put an steeppel on you or you might somehow stend in the way. They think you must suppressed. From 30 to 40 it is an especially hard time for young doctors, young lawyers, young merchants, young farmers, young mechanics, young ministers. The strug-gle of the thirties is for honest and helpgle of the thirties is for honest and helpful and remunerative recognition. But new old people know how to treat young people without patronizing them on the one hand or snubbing them on the one hand or snubbing them on the other. On, the thirties! Joseph stood before Pharach at 30. David was 30 years old when he began to reign. The height of Solomon's temple was 30 cubits. Christ entered upon his active ministry at 30 years of age. Judas sold him for 30 years of silver.

Oh, the thirties! What a word, snggestive of triumph or disaster! Your dec-ade is the one that will probably afford the greatest opportunity for victory, be-cause there is the greatest necessity for struggle. Read the world's history and know what are the thirties for good or bad. Alexander the Great closed his career at 82. Frederick the Great made Europe tremble with his armies at 35. Cortes conquered Mexico at 30. Grant fought Shiloh and Donelson when 38, Raphael died at 37, Luther was the hero of the reformation at 35. Sir Philip Sydney got through by 32.

The greatest deeds for God and against him were done within the thirties, and your greatest battles are now and between the time when you cease express ing your age by putting first a figure "2" and the time when you will cease expressing it by putting first a figure "3." As it is the greatest time of the struggle, I adjure you, in God's name and by God's grace, make it the greatest achievement. My prayer is for all those in the tremendous crises of the thirties. The fact is that by the way you decide the present following decades.

When I was in Russia, I was disappinted in not seeing the battlefield of rodino. Why was there fought such a battle at that small village? It was 70 miles from Moscow. Why that desperate struggle, in which 125,000 French-men grappled with 160,000 Russians, and 20,000 dead Frenchmen and 52,000 dead Russians were left on the field? It was because the fate of Moscow, the sacred city of Russia, was decided there-decided 70 miles away. And let me tell you, people of the thirties, you are now at the Borodino, whence will resound Its successes or its moral disasters clear on into the seventies if you live to the threescore and ten of the text.

AT FORTY MAN KNOWS HIS WEAKNESS. Next I accost the forties. Yours is the decade of discovery. I do not mean the discovery of the outside, but the discovery of yourself. No man knows himself until he is 40. He overestimates or underestimates himself. By that time he has learned what he can do or what he cannot do. He thought be had commercial genius enough to become a millionaire, but now he is satisfied to make a comfortable living. He thought he had rheterical power that would bring him into the United States senate; now he is content if he can successfully argue a rumon case before a petit jury.

He thought he had medical skill that rould make him a Mott or a Grosse or a Willard Parker or a Sims: now he finds his sphere is that of a family physician, prescribing for the ordinary ailments that afflict our race. He was sailing on in a fog and could not take a reckoning. but now it clears up enough to allow him to find out his real latitude and longitude. He has been climbing, but new he hongot to the top of the hill, and he takes a long breath. He is half way through the journey at least, and he is in a position to look backward or for-ward. He has more good sense than he ever had. He knows human nature, for he has been obested often enough to see the bad side of it, and be has met so many gracious and kindly and splendid sonis he also knows the good side of it.

Now calm yourself. Thank God for the past and deliberately set your compass for another royage. You have chased enough the theology. You have blown enough soap bubbles. You have seen the meetisfying nature of all earththings. Open a new chapter with God and the world. This decade of the forties ought to eclipse all its prodecosors in worship, in usefulness, and in imposition. "Forty" is a great word in Biblin. God's asscient people were 40 years in the wilderness. Eli judged larged 40 years. David and Solumon and Jehousis reigned to years. When Joseph visited his brethren, he was 40 years old.

Oh, this mountain top of the fortiest. You have now the character you will probably have for all time and all eternity. God, by his grace, sometimes changes a man after the forties, but after that a man never changes himself. Tell me. O men and women who are in the forties, your habits of thought and life, and I will tell you what you will forever be. I might make a mistake onre in a thousand times, but not more than in that proportion.

My sermon next access the fifties. How queer it looks when in writing your are you make the first of the two figures.

age you make the first of the two figures a "3." This is the decade which shows what the other decades have been. If a what the other decades have been. It is young man has sown wild outs and he has lived to this time, he recps the harvest of it in the fifties, or if by necessity he was compelled to overtoil in honest directions he is called to settle up with

they are octogenarians at 50. Sciations and rheumatisms and neuralgias and vertigos and insomnias have their play-ground in the fifties. A man's hair be-gins to whiten, and, sithough he may the optician for No. 14 or No. 12 or No. 10. When he gets a cough and is almost cured, he backs and clears his throat a good while afterward. Oh, ye who are in the fifties, think of it! A half century of blessing to be thankful for, and a half century subtracted from an existence which in the most marked cases of lonsevity hardly ever reaches a whole cen-

By this time you ought to be eminent for piety. You have been in so many battles you ought to be a brave soldier. You have made so many voyages you ought to be a good sailor. So long pro-tected and blessed you ought to have a soul full of doxology. In Bible times in Canaan every 50 years was by God's command a year of jubilee. The people did not work that year. If property had by misfortune gone out of one's possession, on the fiftieth year it came back to lum. If he had fooled it away, it was returned without a farthing to pay. If a man had been enslaved, he was in that year emancipated. A trumpet was sounded loud and clear and long, and it was the trumpet of jubilee. They shook hands, they laughed, they congratulated. What a time it was, that fiftieth year! And if under the old dispensation it was such a glad time, under our new and more glerious dispensation let all who have come to the fifties hear the trumpet of inbilee that I now blow. That was the allusion made by Mr. Toplady, the great hymnologist, when he wrote:

Blow ye the trumpet, blow
The sladiy solemn sound;
Let all the nations know,
To earth's remotest bound,
The year of jubile is come.
Return ye ransomed sinners is

Your heritage above
Shail have it back unbought—
The gift of Jesus' love.
The year of jubice has come.
Return ye ransomed sinners hor

My sermon next accosts the sixties, The beginning of that decade is more startling than any other. In his chronological journey the man rides rather thly over the figures "2" and "8" and "4" and "5," but the figure "6" gives him a big jolt. He says: "It cannot be that I am 60. Let me examine the old family record. I guess they made a mis-take. They got my name down wrong in the roll of births." But, no; the older brothers or sisters remember the time of his advent, and there is some relative a year older, and another relative a year younger, and, sure enough, the fact is established beyond all disputation. Sixtyl Now your great danger is the temptation to fold up your faculties and quit. You will feel a tendency to reminisce. If you do not look out, you will begin almost everything with the words, "When I was a boy." But you ought to make the sixties more memorable for God and the truth than the fifties, or the forties, or the thirties. You ought to do more during the next 10 years than you did in any 30 years of your life because of all the experience you have had. You have committed enough mistakes in life to make you wise above your juniors. Now, under the accumulated light of your past experimenting, go to work for God as never before. When a man in the sixtles folds up his energy and feels he has done enough, it is the devil of indolence to which he is surrendering, and God generally takes the man at his word and lets him die right away. His brain, that under the tension of hard work was active, now suddenly shrivels. Men, whether they retire from secular or religious work, generally retire to the grave. No well man has a right to retire. The world was made for work. There remaineth a rest for the people of God, but it is in a sphere beyond the reach of telescopes. The military charge that decided one of the greatest battles of the ages-the battle of Waterlao-was not made until 8 c'clock in the evening, but some of you propose to go into camp at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

WATTING FOR THE END. My subject next accosts those in the seventies and beyond. My word to them is congratulation. You have got nearly if not quite through. You have safely crossed the sea of life and are about to enter the harbor. You have fought at Gettysturg, and the war is over. Here and there a sittemish with the remaining sin of your own heart and the sin of the world, but I guess you are about done. There may be some work for you yet on small or large scale. Bismarck of Germany vigorous in the eightles. The prime mittiller of Englaced strong at its. Hayda composing his craterio, "The Creation," at Myeers of age. Isocrates doing some of his best work at 14. Plate busy thinking for all succeeding centuries at William Bloke at 67 learning Italian so as to read Dante in the original. Lord Cockburn at 87 writing his best treatise. John Wesley stirring great audiences at 85. William C. Bryant, without speciacies, reading in my house Thanatopeis" at 88 years of age.

Christian men and women in all departments serving God after becoming e-presgenarious and octogenarians and nonausnurlans prove that there are possipalities of work for the aged, but I sibilities of work for the aged, but I think you who are passed the seventies are near being through. How do you feel about 30. You ought to be juitalised, because life is a tremendons struggle, and if you have see through respectably and marinky you ought to feel like people toward the close of a summer day sealed on the rocks watching the enneet at Bar Harber or Cape May or Lookout motin-

I am glad to say that most old Chris-smith. He said to Mr. Adams: "I am gird to see you. I hope you are getting along pretty wall?" The reply was: "Ah, sir, Quite the contrary. I find I am a poor tenant occupying a house much shattared by time. It sways and trembles with every wind, and, what is worse, sir, the landlord, as near as I can make out, does not intend to make any re-

Dr. Beman, after passing into the seventice, was asked by my friend, Rev. Dr. Spear, "Br. Beman, how is your health now?" and he replied, "I have on me an incurable disease." "What is that?" asked my friend, and the septuagerarian replied, "Old age." Both of the old men I have mentioned intended their remarks for facetiousness, and old people have a right to be facetious. An aged woman sent for her physician and told him of her ailments, and the doctor and: "What would you have me do, said: "What would you have me do, madam? I cannot make you young again." She replied: "I know that, doctor. What I want you to do is to help me grow old a little longer."

The young have their troubles before them. The old have their troubles be-hind them. You have got about all out of this earth that there is in it. Be glad that you that you, an aged servant of God, are going to try another life and amid better surroundings. Stop looking back and look ahead. Oh, ye in the seventies, and look ahead. Oh, ye in the seventies, and the eighties, and the nineties, your best days are yet to come; your grandest associations are yet to be formed; your best eyesight is yet to be kindled; your best hearing is yet to be awakened; your greatest speed is yet to be traveled; your gladdest song is yet to be sung.

The most of your friends have gone over the border, and you are going to join them very soon. They are waiting for you. They are watching the golden shore to see you land. They are watch-shore to see you land. They are watching the shining gate to see you come through. They are standing by the throne to see you mount. What a glad hour when you drop the staff and take the acepter; when you quit the stuffened joints and become an immortal athlete! But hear! hear! a remark pertinent to all people whether in the twenties, the thirties, the forties, the fifties, the sixties, the seventies, or beyond. What we all need is to take the supernatural into our

Do not let us depend on brain and muscle and nerve. We want a nighty supply of the supernatural. We want with us a divine force mightier than the waters and the tempests, and when the Lord took two steps on bestormed Galilee, putting one foot on the winds and the other on the waves, he proved him-self mightier than hurricane and billow. We want with us a divine force greater than the fires, and when the Lord cooled Nebuchadnezzar's furnace until Shad-rach, Meshach and Abednego did not even have to fan themselves he proved himself mightier than the fire.

We want a divine force stronger than wild beast, and when the Lord made Daniel a lion tamer he proved himsel stronger than the wrath of the jungles There are so many diseases in the world we want with us a divine physician capuble of combating ailments, and our Lord when on earth showed what he could do with catalepsy and paralysis and ophthalmia and dementia. Oh, take How to get it? Just as you get anything you want—by application. If you want

All druggies sell at. Address in confidence you want—by application. If you want you want-by application. If you want anything, you apply for it.

By prayer apply for its supernatural.

Take it into your daily business. Many a man has been able to pay only 50 cents on the dollar who if he had called in the supernatural could have paid 100 cents on the dollar. Why do 98 men out of 100 fail in business? Because there are not more than two men out of a hundred who take God into their worldly affairs, "Behind the great unknown standeth God within the shadows keeping watch upon his own."

CAST ALL YOUR CARES ON GOD, A man got up in a New York prayer meeting and said: "God is my partner. I did business without him for 20 years and failed every two or three years. I have been doing business with him for 20 years and have not failed once." Oh, take the supernatural into all your afgoodness of God in temporal things when I entered active life I must testify. Called to preach at lovely Belleville, in New Jersey, I entered upon my work. But there stood the empty parsonage, and not a cent had I with which to furnish it. After preaching three or four weeks the officers of my church asked me if I did not want to take two or three weeks' vacation. I said "Yes," for I had preached about all I knew, but I feared they must be getting tired of me. A Handson.

When I returned to the village after Silverware. the brief vacation, they handed me the key of the parsonage and asked me if I did not want to go and look at it. Not suspecting anything had happened, I put the key into the personage door and opened it, and there was the hall complotely furnished with carpet and pic-tures and hatrack, and I turned into the parlors, and they were furnished, the softest sofae I ever sat on, and into the study and found it furnished with bookcases, and I went to the bedrooms, and they were furnished, and into the pantry, and that was furnished with culmary article, and the spiceboxes were filled, and a flour barrel stood there ready to be opened, and I went down into the dining room, and the table was set and beautifully furnished, and into the kitchen, and the stove was full of fuel, and a match lay on the top of the stove, and all I had to do in starting housekeeping was to strike the match. God inspired the whole thing, and if I ever doubt his greeness. all up and down the world, call me an ingrate. I testify that I have been in many tight pinces, and God always got me out, and he will get you out of the tiglit places.

But the most of this andicate will never reach the eighties, or the seventies, or the station, or the fifties, or the forties. He who passes into the forties has gone for beyond the average of human life. Amid the ancertainties take God through Jesus Christ as your present and eternal safety. The longest life is only a small fragment of the great elernity. We will all of us suon he there.

Starnity! how scar it rolls: Open the rast rains of your scale. Beware and count the switch cost What they have gained whose mole are lost.

Half an hour later the same automatic lever drops, and a bell is rung for the family, followed in another half hour by a "breakfast bell." Wires and electrometer attachments run all over the house and play all sorts of pranks. Besides performing the wenders above mentioned (which the reader must confess is a fine thing for a family who are so punctual that everything is done by clockwork), a wise attachment of the clock is connected to queer little music house in each chamber.
